Our clients have recently told us that 'having an overview of key recent employment decisions and a sense of what 2018 will hold for HR practitioners in Northern Ireland' is at the top of their Christmas wish list. Your wish is our command, and so we are delighted to invite you, and any of your colleagues who hold responsibility for HR matters, to our 2017 employment law review.

Lisa Bryson, Principal Associate, will address the following:

- recent employment law changes and key decisions of 2017
- potential employment law Brexit implications on employment and immigration matters
- gender pay gap reporting – what to expect in Northern Ireland, and 'getting your house in order'
- 2018 – our top five of what should be on your agenda for the New Year.
