Our intellectual property experience
“The IP team at Eversheds Sutherland is, in my opinion, the best overall team in the industry.”

Chambers 2019
Eversheds Sutherland represents the combination of two firms with a shared culture and commitment to client service excellence. We are each known for our commercial awareness and industry knowledge and for providing innovative and tailored solutions for every client.

In a dynamic commercial landscape with ever-expanding technological horizons, it is increasingly important for businesses to capture value from their intellectual capital and knowledge-based assets. After all, these assets can be far more valuable, and more difficult to control, than almost any other type of corporate holding.

Our IP services

Our experienced team will work closely with you to develop effective strategies to manage your intellectual property portfolio. We can also provide all of the services you need to identify, leverage, protect and defend the value of these assets.

The detailed technical knowledge of our intellectual property lawyers is an important aspect of the experience we bring to this area. We have a large team of registered patent lawyers who provide counseling and representation in all aspects of US and international patent law. A significant number of our intellectual property lawyers also hold advanced degrees in technical fields.

Key IP facts
- Eversheds Sutherland’s IP team is committed to technical excellence, pragmatic advice and costs certainty

Areas of experience
Our global IP team comprises many lawyers providing the full range of IP services including:
- copyrights
- IP litigation
- media
- patents
- reputation management
- trademarks
- trade secrets

Copyrights
Eversheds Sutherland’s Copyright Law team registers copyrights, handles licensing and transfers and protects copyrighted work from unauthorized use throughout the world.

Our lawyers handle all matters related to licensing, transfers, assignments and securitization of copyrights in order to maximize the value of copyrighted works. We help to establish ownership of copyrighted works and register copyrights with appropriate authorities in required jurisdictions. In addition, we protect the value of copyrighted work by policing potentially infringing uses around the world and online. We also have substantial experience in copyright litigation and where appropriate, are able to negotiate agreements that can avoid potentially costly litigation.

Our copyright law experience
We have a wealth of experience in copyright-rich industries such as music, publishing, film, television and other new media.

However, our Copyright Law team extends beyond books, music and movies to diverse fields such as product packaging, carpet designs and software code. Our clients include clothing manufacturers, research groups and electric utilities. We are as comfortable policing potentially infringing packaging designs for a fashion designer as we are pursuing litigation to protect the interests of a toy manufacturer from knock-off competition. This diversity of clients ensures that our lawyers remain on top of all relevant copyright law developments.

Eversheds Sutherland’s copyright practice has protected and maximized the value of our clients’ copyrighted works for more than 50 years.

Eversheds Sutherland represents some of the world’s most successful media companies, entertainment businesses and artists. We can provide you with a full range of legal services, including advice on the creation and exploitation of music, television, film and online content. We also have an experienced Reputation Management law group, which will use a variety of effective legal tools to protect your public image, should it ever be threatened.

Experienced Media Law team

Our client list ranges from world-famous names to those who are shaping the future of the industry. You will often see the entertainment law cases we work on in the news — Apple Corps suing Apple Computer, disputes over the Jimi Hendrix Estate or Elton John’s new contract to play in Las Vegas, for example.

Much of our Media Law practice, however, does not make headlines. This applies particularly to reputation management. As we all know, good reputations take time and investment to acquire, but can be lost in an instant. Our lawyers know how to intervene to prevent the publication of material that could damage your carefully maintained public image. If the worst should happen, we can also advise you on how best to respond.

Our full range of experience in media and entertainment law includes:

- structuring and managing large projects, including live shows and joint ventures
- copyright, performers’ rights, royalties, contractual and management disputes
- due diligence and copyright ownership advice
- advice on television writer, production, options and screenplay agreements
- advice on film screenplay, synchronization, distribution and soundtrack agreements
- advice on and complaints under media industry codes, including Ofcom, the Advertising Standards Authority and the Press Complaints Commission
- defamation advice and litigation for claimants and defendants
- privacy and confidential information advice and litigation
- brand reputation advice, including comparative advertising and regulatory issue

Eversheds Sutherland (US) was named to the “Litigation Powerhouse Honor Roll” for Intellectual Property Litigation in BTI Consulting Group’s 2019 Litigation Outlook.

IP litigation

Eversheds Sutherland’s Intellectual Property Litigation team works with clients to spot critical issues early and reach strategically sound and cost-effective resolutions. We will listen to you and understand your priorities and preferences for each specific matter.

Intellectual property litigation experience

Asserting IP and defending against allegations of infringement are a critical part of an overall competitive strategy – the stakes are high for both sides in a dispute. Eversheds Sutherland regularly handles national and international IP-based disputes including multi-patent, multi-distinct disputes between industry competitors, as well as defending against non-practicing entity (troll) patent enforcement.

For regular small-scale infringements, we will work with you to set up a defined process. Our ability to act practically and strategically means that such matters rarely need to go to court. In doing so, we can help you to build up a reputation as a rights owner that will defend your rights, thereby deterring would-be infringers or those making weak or spurious claims.

Eversheds Sutherland represents both plaintiffs/claimants and defendants in:

- patent infringement, patent interference and patent-related antitrust suits
- trademark and trade dress infringement suits
- trademark opposition and cancellation proceedings
- copyright infringement suits
- advertising disputes and unfair competition
- we have appeared in courts and administrative proceedings across the US including:
  - US International Trade Commission
  - US Patent and Trademark Office
  - state and federal appellate courts
- European Union Intellectual Property Office
- we represent clients in mediation and arbitration proceedings around the world including:
  - International Chamber of Commerce
  - London Court of International Arbitration
  - Zürich, Stockholm, Paris and Finland Chambers
  - World Intellectual Property Organization
- It takes a balanced team to advocate effectively for clients in a variety of industries. Eversheds Sutherland’s Intellectual Property Litigation team adeptly handles all types of disputes involving widely varied technologies across the world.

However, our Patent practice is not limited to counselling Fortune 100 companies. Our client roster extends to entrepreneurs and start-ups, and we provide intellectual property counselling on products and processes from inception to marketing. Our group works closely with Eversheds Sutherland’s other practice areas to develop and execute strategies for clients seeking to enforce their rights, or that are accused of violating the rights of others.

We provide the full range of patent law services, including:

- preparing and filing patent applications in all of the technological arts
- prosecuting patents across the globe
- litigating issues of ownership, licensing, validity and infringement
- auditing technology to identify patentable subject matter, and developing strategies to protect it
- advising on alternative methods to protect commercially valuable information
- mapping client patents and/or competitor patents for strategic analysis
- developing and implementing patent programs to grow and manage patent portfolios
- performing due diligence reviews and negotiating intellectual-property-related provisions in mergers and acquisitions
- preparing non-infringement, invalidity and clearance opinions
- analyzing and advising with regard to infringement claims of patent-holding companies
- drafting, negotiating and advising on technology development and acquisition or licensing

Reputation management
In business, a good reputation is often an organization’s most valuable asset. Should yours ever be threatened, Eversheds Sutherland’s Reputation Management practice will work to protect you, using a variety of effective legal tools.

Developments in reputation management law
The widespread accessibility and use of digital media has increased the variety of ways in which reputations and privacy can be attacked often repeatedly, anonymously and from several sources at a time. Once a negative story breaks, it can spread rapidly via social media and rolling news channels, potentially turning a minor issue into a major global risk. If negative material is posted on the internet, it can remain there indefinitely, causing ongoing damage, unless appropriate action is taken.

Experienced in reputation management
Eversheds Sutherland’s Reputation Management practices works with you to control your portrayal in the media and help to protect your privacy. We achieve this resuly by calling on our extensive experience in:

- defamation (libel, slander and malicious falsehood) claims
- confidential information and privacy law
- broadcasting and press regulation
- advertising law

We can help to prevent privacy breaches and the leaking of confidential information or damaging information. Our reputation management lawyers intervene quickly and decisively to ensure that your public image does not suffer. We will advise you on strategies to help prevent the disclosure of confidential information and respond rapidly to a crisis. After publication of negative material, we can advise on how best to respond, counteracting bad publicity, helping to minimize damage and, where necessary, litigating on your behalf.

National ranking organizations frequently recognize Eversheds Sutherland’s IP Group and individual attorneys for their patent prowess

Our reputation management experience includes:

- acting for a major global business to prevent sophisticated ongoing scams being committed in its name
- acting for a senior board member of an international business to prevent blackmail through the threat of publication of sensitive private information in the press
- supporting numerous businesses to put in place media plans and policies when they are concerned about becoming subject to unfair and unwarranted press attention
- regularly advising on the prospect of defamation claims against the press or broadcasters for publishing misleading or inaccurate stories
- acting for a major international bank in a libel action against a global news group
- working to prevent the defamation of a financial services client on multiple websites across Europe and Africa
- obtaining a privacy injunction to prevent the disclosure of sensitive personal information relating to two employees of one client
- obtaining an interim injunction for a politician in Germany, regarding defamatory comments on websites
- using privacy rights to prevent the broadcast of highly sensitive material about a corporate client
- securing an injunction to prevent the publication of a salacious story already in the hands of newspapers

Patents
Patents allow companies to protect their valuable intellectual property. Eversheds Sutherland’s Patent practice combines the technical and legal knowledge necessary to help you develop global strategies that protect your proprietary technologies. We focus on practical and business aspects geared to your commercial objectives: maximizing protection, building assets, protecting markets and developing revenue streams for patentees, investors, licensees and business partners. Patent law requires detailed knowledge of the scientific disciplines that make new inventions possible. The practical and technical backgrounds of our patent lawyers enable us to advise on a wide range of technologies.

Experienced patent lawyers
Our patent lawyers protect the intellectual property of many prominent global entities including some of the world’s largest life sciences research institutions, chemical companies, financial transaction providers and energy production companies.

Trademarks
When prominent companies look for brand advice, they rely on Eversheds Sutherland. We are one of a very small number of full-service law firms able to offer a fully integrated global trademarks and design filing service. By offering a full range of branding services in house, we provide a one-stop shop for all of your intellectual property and trademark law management needs.

Some of the world’s best-known consumer products companies trust their trademarks and service mark protection to Eversheds Sutherland.

Experienced trademarks lawyers
We handle major trademark portfolios for a number of global and Fortune 500 companies, including many consumer products clients whose marks represent significant financial and strategic value. Whenever necessary, we also defend against accusations of infringement.

Our counsel and representation extend to all facets of trademark law, including:
- counselling on the choice of names and marks
- performing searches to determine the availability of names and marks for use and/or registration
- preparing and filing trademark applications across the globe
- prosecuting trademark applications
- advising on the marketing and advertising of products and services as they relate to trademark use and protection
- policing potentially infringing uses of marks online and around the world through our watching services
- representation in opposition and cancellation proceedings
- supervising trademark audits and performing due diligence as part of corporate M&A, structuring and restructuring
- counselling on the resolution of conflicts concerning brand infringement, unfair competition, trade practices and related matters
- handling issues relating to the transfer of marks or rights, such as by licensing, assignment, security agreements, mergers or acquisitions
- representation in Section 337 cases before the International Trade Commission
- representation in domain name arbitration proceedings

Trade Secrets
From manufacturing processes to customer details and software systems, proprietary information is one of your business’s most valuable assets. But fail to take the appropriate precautions and it can easily be compromised. Eversheds Sutherland’s Trade Secrets practice will work with you to design and implement procedures that protect you against breaches of confidentiality, be they intentional or accidental. Should your secrets fall into unauthorized hands, we will be on hand to find effective solutions, ranging from mediation to litigation.

Experienced Trade Secrets lawyers
We understand that litigation may be the best course of action when a trade secret is leaked, or other proprietary information is compromised. Our Intellectual Property lawyers frequently collaborate with colleagues in our Human Resources practice to provide you with comprehensive advice and representation. Eversheds Sutherland also represents a wide range of businesses in injunction and temporary restraining order hearings in trade secret, non-compete agreement and employment agreement cases. Our lawyers have an impressive track record of resolving cases prior to trial and are experienced in using alternative resolution methods, such as arbitration and mediation.

Our Trade Secrets experience includes:
- analyzing affected information and identifying appropriate protective measures
- designing employee policies regarding the treatment of sensitive information
- preparing and assisting in the enforcement of non-competition and confidentiality agreements
- advising clients on the implementation of security measures
- analyzing issues related to post-employment restrictive covenants, breach of contract and breach of fiduciary duty
- representing clients in litigation involving allegations of misappropriation of trade secrets and confidential business information by competitors, former customers or former employees
- representing clients in litigation involving allegations of tortious interference with contractual or business relationships
- litigating on behalf of clients in cases involving allegations of employee raiding
Why work with us?

Quality
Over the years, both Eversheds and Sutherland have been recognized as leaders in changing the dynamic of legal services. Both have been consistently praised by clients and highly ranked in the most respected independent directories.
